FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

April 25, 2019

The Fastener Training Institute is pleased to announce that Würth Industry North America is our 2019 "Sustaining Sponsor". This new level of sponsorship will help FTI fund both existing programs and develop the new content needed to grow. The generous support of Würth will be acknowledged throughout the year at FTI classes, webinars and industry events.

"We are excited to partner with FTI to ensure we provide the next generation of engineers and technicians with the knowledge they need to support their companies' growth and innovation", said Dan Hill, Chief Executive Officer for Würth Industry North America. "Würth prides itself on a long history of engineering expertise and appreciates FTI providing high quality fastener training for the industry."

Würth Industry North America is the trusted leader in inventory management & industrial distribution of C-Parts, specialty fasteners, MRO, safety equipment and vending solutions. It has more than 110 locations across the US, Canada, Mexico and Brazil with over 2000 employees and is part of the Würth Group, which operates more than 400 companies in 80+ countries and employs approximately 76,000 associates worldwide.

The Fastener Training Institute is a registered 501(c)6 non-profit. It relies on the support of the fastener community to continue to operate and grow. Continued support is critical to its success, and companies and colleagues in the industry are encouraged to attend classes and webinars or sponsor an event. A complete listing of new classes, webinars, and events can be found on www.FastenerTraining.org.

The Fastener Training Institute's core purpose is to enhance fastener use, reliability and safety by providing fastener product and technical training at all levels. Through this, FTI can achieve its goal of strengthening the industry and its personnel in all segments.

The objective of the Fastener Training Institute is to elevate the level of technical understanding and expertise of individuals in the fastener industry by providing a variety of training programs presented by recognized industry experts. FTI provides beginning and advanced training on fastener products, standards and specifications.
